

GRAND CANYON HISTORICAL SOCIETY
PIONEER AWARD

Presented with appreciation to

RICHARD D. “Q” QUARTAROLI
for:

- creating a Research Library for the Glen Canyon Environmental Studies program;
- many years as The Special Collections Librarian at Northern Arizona University’s Cline Library;
- serving on the Board of Directors of the Grand Canyon River Heritage Coalition;
- serving as Chairman of the Coalition’s Advisory Council – a select group of “river people” with special knowledge and skill sets related to authenticating the content and interpretive process of the proposed Grand Canyon River Heritage Museum;
- having compiled and edited proceedings from January 2012 Grand Canyon History Symposium;
- available for reference consultation on all aspects of Colorado River History, including the mundane and arcane, trivial and picayune;
- extensive research and publications on the John Wesley Powell expeditions, explorations, and surveys; and
- exhaustive research on many facets of Colorado River history, written many articles, and made many presentations, and for professional associations.
